

Young Men at Risk

Walsall Street Teams would like to offer your organisation awareness training on working with young males who are sexually exploited. This half day course is on offer to anyone directly working with children and young people, particularly Social Care, Health, Police, Education and voluntary and community services.

Aims and Objectives of the day:

- To increase knowledge and awareness issues in relation to young males who are sexually exploited.
- To promote an understanding of the needs of these young males have for support and protection.
- Identify both key similarities and differences in exploitation, relating to gender and sexuality.
- Look at local and national trends relating to the exploitation of males.
- Identify the impact sexual exploitation has on a young person's welfare – emotional, psychological, health, educational, social and physical

Details of the day:

- Venue: Small Street Centre, Small Street, Walsall WS1 3PR
